UMCDF Operations

- UMCDF is preparing to change over to GB projectiles processing. It should take about 46 days to change to GB projectile processing after the last GB rocket is destroyed.
- Depot workers detected a trace amount of mustard (HD) leaking from a ton container in a storage igloo July 20. There was no danger to workers, the community or the environment.
- A small rocket fire occurred at the UMCDF July 24. It was the 15th such fire since operations began in September 2004. There were no injuries, equipment damage was minimal, and the fire remained under engineering controls.
